

“The sun never sets on the British Empire” & (Every subject) “may retain weapons necessary for the defense of home and person”
Once indisputable truths, the sun has set on both these concepts in Great Britain. As a result of current British Law, many of the firearms once held in British collections have found new homes in “The Land of the Free.” Americans now own them.

In Memory of British rights won and lost and as a tribute to Our Second Amendment,

The New Jersey Arms Collector’s Club Inc.

Invites the new owners of these weapons to compete in a marksmanship contest using

THE FIREARMS OF THE WARS OF THE
